Sarah Jennings, a blond and pretty 17 year-old, is traveling West with her family from Pittsburgh to San Francisco in 1849. She is left behind in Independence, Missouri (the start of the Oregon Trail) because, as her father Johnathan writes in his journal on May 19, 1849, A savage fever came upon Sarah yesterday and she slipped into darkness as we readied to depart. Doctors told us she will surely perish. And if we stay, we may fall prey to the same illness. If we linger longer, we will forgo our journey west. I have left behind sums of money for her final caring and resting. All I can do now is send word to her caretakers at each post. In 1849, over 30,000 pioneers headed West across America to California, another 20,000 by sea. These pioneers came in droves for the promise of gold - and from every crevice of society - farmers, blacksmiths, immigrants, teachers, thieves and soldiers, lone fortune-seekers, businessmen, and vagabond families - all unprepared and unknowing. Less than half arrived. Too many perished from starvation, disease, or at the hands of others. The remainder turned aside - broken - miles of regret crushing their hearts, their descendants forever severed from their will to discover. So begins the story of WEST: Journey Across the Plains. It s a tale of a family separated by 2,000 miles of unrelenting hardships - and it is told solely through found journal entries and letters. Miraculously, Sarah recovers three months later and there she begins her own journal. With no counsel from my family and to carry on, I borrowed...
