Bristow, 22 Thomas Plumer suggested a doubt whether it was necessary they should be secured by writing; and it certainly seems strange that there should be any dil r erence between a contract in writing, when no statute requires it to be in writing, and a verbal promise to pay. It is an artificial distinction, not recognized in any other case. 377. The distinction has likewise been taken, that as the general engagements of afeme covert are binding upon her separate estate, on the ground only of her intention that they should be a charge upon it, therefore, when it is not her intention to contract a. personal debt, or to charge a gross sum upon her separate estate, the court cannot raise an implied assumpsit to charge it in opposition to her intentions. Thus, in...
