First, and most important, I am happy to mention, is, the laying of mains and pipes throughout the buildings for the purpose of lighting with gas. The old system of oil lamps used heretofore, was not only a very troublesome and dangerous means of lighting the Institution, but also less conducive to cleanliness. A far better and much less expensive light will thus be obtained. Complaints being constantly made of the scarcity of water in the pavilions, a good and sufficient supply has now been provided for that portion of the Institution. Formerly a one inch main pipe was used, now a three inch has been substituted, which fully answers the purpose intended, and an abundant quantity of water is now being constantly furnished to the pavilions. The floor in the Middle House having now been in use for a period of over thirty years, and having in a great measure gone to decay; it was decided by your Board that a new floor should be laid in the hall. This was accordingly done, ami that at the cost of the materials only, the whole being executed by inmate labor. This new floor is of narrow yellow pine plank,...
